

Women's Education in Ranchi District: Equality and Gender Justice

Afsana Perween<sup>1</sup>, Dr. Pankaj Kumar Yadav<sup>2</sup>

Research Scholar, Department of Education, NIILM University<sup>1</sup>

Professor, Department of Education, NIILM University<sup>2</sup>

Abstract

The purpose of this study on the role of women's education in Ranchi district is to analyze the contribution of education in realizing equality and gender justice in society. This study demonstrates how women's education promotes women's empowerment, availability of equal opportunities, and gender equality in society. Several significant improvements and initiatives have been observed in the field of women's education in Ranchi district, such as the promotion and support of education through government schemes and programs. Despite this, challenges such as social and cultural barriers, lack of facilities, and economic problems still exist, which hinder the complete progress of women's education. This study reviews the current status of women's education and analyzes its impact on society. Additionally, the effectiveness of efforts taken towards equality and gender justice has been evaluated.

Keywords: Women's education, Gender justice, Equality, Ranchi district, Social empowerment.

1. Introduction

Ranchi district, the capital of Jharkhand state, is known not only for its cultural and historical significance but also for the significant changes seen in its social structure. Education is a force that determines the direction of social change, and women's education is at the center of this transformation. Women's education does not merely point towards their personal advancement, but it is also an important step for establishing equality and gender justice in society. Understanding the status and role of women's education in Ranchi district is important because it presents an ideal example in the broader social and economic landscape of the country. Education provides women with equal opportunities in social and economic spheres and recognizes their freedom and rights. Despite acknowledging the importance of women's education in society, various social and cultural barriers still pose major challenges in this field. Despite these barriers, education has provided new opportunities to women and has made significant contributions towards their empowerment.

2. Importance of Women's Education

Women's education is a fundamental component for the development and prosperity of a society, which not only empowers women's personal lives but also strengthens the overall social and economic structure. The role of women's education in Ranchi district holds special significance in this context, where traditional and cultural beliefs can become barriers to the progress of women's education. Understanding the importance of women's education is necessary because it strengthens the foundation of gender equality and justice in society. When women receive education, they not only take steps towards their personal development but also emerge as empowered and capable citizens in society. Education provides women with the ability to understand their rights, duties, and their role in society, making them self-reliant and enabling them to make positive contributions to society. The study of the role of women's education in Ranchi district highlights how education has inspired women to improve their social status, achieve economic independence, and move towards personal empowerment. This study also demonstrates how equality and gender justice can be promoted through women's education, and what kinds of barriers and challenges are faced.

3. Results and Discussion

Current Status of Women's Education in Ranchi District

Ranchi district, being the capital of Jharkhand as well as an important social and cultural center, plays a significant role in the overall development of society and efforts towards equality through women's education. The current status of women's education in Ranchi district is an important question because it defines progress towards equality and gender justice in society. Currently, several significant improvements and initiatives have been observed in the field of women's education in Ranchi district. Various schemes and programs are being implemented by government and non-governmental organizations to promote women's education, such as free education, scholarships, and special training programs. Despite these efforts, there are some challenges and problems in the status of women's education. Examining the current status of women's education in Ranchi district reveals that although positive changes have occurred in the field of education, there are still many barriers and issues that hinder the complete progress of women's education. Problems such as lack of schools in rural areas, absence of facilities, and socio-cultural barriers affect the development of women's education.

Efforts Towards Equality and Gender Justice

Ranchi district, being the capital of Jharkhand and also important from social and cultural perspectives, has become the center of significant efforts towards equality and gender justice through women's education. Equality and gender justice are fundamental needs of a society, and women's education plays an important role in this direction. Efforts made towards equality and gender justice in the field of women's education are necessary to empower women's position in society and recognize their rights. Education not only makes women aware of their rights and duties but also provides them guidance towards social and economic opportunities. Steps taken towards equality and gender justice in Ranchi district include improvements in education, policy implementation, and social awareness campaigns. Various schemes and programs are being conducted by government and non-governmental organizations, such as scholarships, free education, and special training, which are trying to provide equal opportunities to women in the field of education. Despite these efforts, some social and cultural barriers still exist, which hinder progress towards equality and gender justice. Traditional thinking, cultural beliefs, and inequalities in access to education are problems that require continuous efforts and improvements to overcome.

4. Challenges and Recommendations

1. Challenges:

- Social and Cultural Barriers: Traditional thinking and cultural beliefs often hinder women's education. Prejudice against girls' education and lack of priority in families is a major challenge.

- Lack of Facilities and Resources: Especially in rural and backward areas, problems such as lack of schools, shortage of teachers, and unavailability of educational materials affect women's education.
- Economic Barriers: The economic condition of families is also an important factor in women's education. Many families are unable to spend on their daughters' education, which affects the level of education.
- Health and Safety Issues: Lack of security in schools and health-related problems also hinder women's education. The absence of proper toilets and health facilities in schools is a significant problem.

2. Recommendations:

- Social Awareness Campaigns: Comprehensive awareness campaigns should be conducted to explain the importance of women's education in society. Social organizations and media can be used to change traditional thinking and cultural beliefs.
- Expansion of Facilities: Efforts should be made to improve school facilities, especially in rural areas. This includes the availability of better toilets, libraries, and sports facilities.
- Financial Support and Incentives: Financial support and incentive schemes should be expanded to promote women's education. Scholarships, free education, and other financial assistance schemes should be implemented more effectively.
- Health and Safety Measures: Health and safety measures should be ensured in schools. The availability of appropriate toilets and health services should be increased to ensure a safe and clean environment.

5. Conclusion

The role of women's education in Ranchi district provides an important contribution towards the development of society and the direction of equality. Education is not only a means of personal empowerment but also an effective tool for realizing equality and gender justice in society. The efforts and improvements made in the field of women's education in Ranchi district have empowered women's position and inspired them to play an active role in society. Although many positive changes have been observed, challenges remain that affect progress towards equality and gender justice. Social and cultural barriers, lack of facilities, economic problems, and health-related issues are major obstacles in the development of women's education. To overcome these challenges, joint efforts by society, government, and other organizations are needed. These problems can be solved through social awareness, expansion of facilities, financial support, and health-safety measures. Ultimately, the comprehensive evaluation of the progress of women's education in Ranchi district and its effects shows that education is an important step towards equality and gender justice in society. The steps taken to promote and improve women's education will help bring positive changes in society. Continuous efforts and dedication are needed to empower women through education and take steps towards equality in society.

6. References

1. Lundgren, R., et al. "Processing Gender: The Living Experience of Reproduction and Transformation of Gender Norms in the Life Course of Young People in Northern Uganda." Culture, Health and Sexuality, Vol. 21, 2019, pp. 387-403.
2. Center of Excellence for CRVS Systems. Knowledge Brief on Gender and CRVS: Using CRVS Systems for Gender-Related SDGs - Opportunities and Challenges. Center of Excellence for CRVS Systems, 2019. Accessed February 21, 2019.
3. Fessler, L. "Activist Shaun King says toxic masculinity is at the root of gun violence, war and terrorism." Quartz, 2018. Accessed February 18, 2019.
4. Green, D. "Closing Civic Space: Trends, Drivers and What Donors Can Do About It." Oxfam Blog, 2019. Accessed February 18, 2019.
5. O'Neil, A., Sojo, V., Fileborn, B., et al. The #MeToo Movement: An Opportunity in Public Health? The Lancet, Vol. 391, 2018, pp. 2587-2589. Time's Up. Time's Up Now, 2018.
6. Bakhshi, G. "'Nirbhaya' Movement: An Indian Feminist Revolution." GNOVIS, May 2, 2017.
7. Human Rights Campaign. Human Rights Campaign, 2018.
8. Correa, S., Paternotre, D., and Kuhar, R. "The Globalization of Anti-Gender Campaigns: The International Anti-Gender Movement in Europe and Latin America Forms Unlikely Alliances." IPS Journal, 2018.

9. United Nations Regional Information Centre for Western Europe. "#SheDecides Conference Raises 181 Million Euros for Women and Girls." UNRIC, 2017. Accessed September 15, 2018.
10. Lamprell, G., and J. Braithwaite. "Mainstreaming Gender and Promoting Intersectionality in Papua New Guinea's Health Policy: A Triangulated Analysis Applying Data-Mining and Content Analytical Techniques." International Journal for Equity in Health, Vol. 16, 2017, p. 65.
11. Akter, S., et al. "Gender in Crop Production in Timor-Leste." Food Security in Timor-Leste Through Crop Production: Proceedings of TimorAg2016, an International Conference held in Dili, Timor-Leste on April 13-15, 2016. Ed. H. Nesbitt, W. Erskine, C.J. da Cruz, and A. Moorhead. ACIAR Proceedings No. 146. Australian Centre for International Agricultural Research, 2016, pp. 187.
12. Akter, S., T.J. Krupnik, F. Rossi, and F. Khanam. "The Influence of Gender and Product Design on Farmers' Preferences for Weather-Indexed Crop Insurance." Global Environmental Change, Vol. 38, 2016, pp. 217-229.